To Whom It May Concern:

As an architect and an educator, I am actively engaged in assembling the building blocks for a world that is sustainable, vibrant, and just.

I am writing to express my outrage at corporations like Monsanto whose single motive is increasing their own market share, profits, return to shareholders.

They are actively working to undermine any possibility for a green and sustainable world that is our only hope for survival as a species.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Pete Gang
