I am writing because I am concerned about the lack of competition in agricultural markets.

Just one company, Monsanto, controls almost all of seeds in the nation, and often has threatened us farmers who don't buy their seeds.

Food is grown and raised with great toxicity and bad for the environment, causing water pollution, soil pollution, and weaken food security.

Prices increase while farmers are struggling and big food companies make record profits.

There is a "revolving door" of personnel between corporate lobbyists and government regulators. No wonder corporations aren't accountable.

What's in our food, anyway? And why aren't there decent labels telling you where it grew, what chemicals are on it, and if it's genetically modified?

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Dan & Nancy Kremer
