

From: Lisa Framiglio <purplelisa003@hotmail.com>
Sent: Saturday, December 19, 2009 2:28 PM
To: ATR-Agricultural Workshops <agriculturalworkshops@usdoj.gov>
Subject: Comments

I am writing because I am concerned about the lack of competition in agricultural markets.

Without competition, there will end up being a monopoly, and we, the public, will be at the sole mercy of one company. They can raise prices, dictate what we can and can't eat, etc.

This echos a theme that was in an old movie. In that movie, only the very rich could afford decent food. The majority had to eat what they were told to because they could not afford real food. While this was only a movie, it makes one stop and wonder, since it seems we are walking down that path. By the way, that movie was Soylent Green.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Lisa Framiglio

, 95812