Subject: big business controls food and farming

Hi,

My family and I have been gardening using traditional methods of animal manures, crop rotation and seed-saving. After watching films such as Food Inc. and The Future of Food I began to grow more concerned about the causes and effects of the practices perpetrated by big business in the food and farming arena. I am concerned that my children will inherit a wasteland of an earth. Please choose life and investigate the top businesses who seek to control and influence the food and farming arena. We as citizens will do our part to act justly, we rely on you to do the rest.

Thanks,

Jamie
